Virtual Assistant

There are many entrepreneurs who require assistance but don't want to take on a full time employee. If you're an organised person with good research and admin skills, this is a great way to work at your own pace. All you need to get started is a computer, phone and internet access.

Travel Consultant

All you need is a passion for travel and a flair for sales. You can book tickets and tours through a registered agent.

Private Tutor

What subject are you very good at? You can offer hourly tutorial lessons for kids. This can be offered as an after school activity or during the holidays.

Freelance Writer

Are you a great writer? Do you have a way with words? You can get paid as a freelance writer for a variety of things. You can write articles, social media content and/or reviews.

Social Media Marketing Consultant

If you understand this industry, you can specialise in one or more platforms and offer your service to small businesses.

Graphic Design

Are you creative and skilled with design programs? You can provide graphic design services to a multitude of customers. Writers need their cover art done for books, small businesses need their packaging and adverts designed.

Online Courses

If you have expertise in any area, you can teach others to achieve mastery in that topic by creating online courses.

Financial Consultant

Are you an accountant? Do you have experience managing small business finances, tax, pensions etc? You can offer your services to businesses around your area for a fee.

Any of these ideas and a host of others could you get you started on your path to financial freedom.
